GENERAL OPINION & PAIRING:

Red wine with a high vibe. This Barrigón's Garnacha is faithful to the land where it grew: a grape with thin and delicate skin from the altiplano's heights. A slightly blushed red wine with a bright purple hue.

On the nose, it shows off flirty notes of cherry, cranberry and jasmine. With low but velvety tannins that play along well with its mild acidity, make this Barrigón a versatile fella: great to drink at the beach or in the woods, midday or just as the sun sets.

Drink slightly cold, this Barrigón goes great with an asada taco, adobado octopus or even with a strawberry pavlova.
